

Forensic Investigations (FORIN)

Coursework

REPORT

Word Count: 2946 // 3650

Disclaimer

By submitting this report for marking, I understand:

- This is an independent piece of coursework, and it is expected that I take responsibility for all of the design, implementation, analysis of results and writing of the report.
- For the Turnitin plagiarism software the match score of the report must be below 20% overall and less than 5% to an individual source (excluding appendices). Marks will be deducted from the final mark according to the exact amount of similarity that I exceeded the 20% margin.
- This marking scheme (rubric) sets out what would be expected for each marking band for this module's coursework.
- The University "general criteria applicable to essays, reports and aspects of projects and dissertations" also applies (on Moodle).
- It is blind marked.
- Any technical help, high-level advice and suggestions which may be provided in-person (e.g., labs) and electronically, has no contribution to or an indication of the final mark.
- Knowledge of a peer's work and their final mark is not justification for what my own mark should be.
- Any examples provided were used for ideas only, and "having followed an example" is not justification for what my mark should be.